After the runaway success of previous single 'Pussy Money Weed' today conceptual artist and musician TOMMY CASH announces his brand new single 'LITTLE MOLLY', produced by felicity and A. G. Cook, and released via Cook's PC Music label. The track is now available via all streaming services and originally premiered via Crack Magazine.

Tommy Cash again pushes boundaries and delivers a unique and genre expanding visual alongside a track that is another clear step in the direction of making him into a global phenomenon. His creative output continues to stand second to none and the inclusivity and creative freedom that runs throughout Tommy's work is as important as the physical output itself.

The video employs special effects by Denis Strahhov at Denhov Visuals alongside direction from Tommy and long-time collaborator Anna-Lisa Himma, who also lead the art-direction and styling on the clip. Describing the thinking and creative behind the video that sees Tommy take inspiration from the likes of Chris Cunningham (Aphex Twin, Autechre) he plays on the concept that "Every child is an artist, the problem is not staying an artist when you grow up" with the imaginary character 'Little Molly'; also nurturing the inclusive attitude he has become known for, working to the thinking that "Imperfection is perfect and we should embrace it."

Tommy is hot off the back of his biggest run of EU shows to date, with a completely sold out show at London's Scala as well as massive sold out shows in Warsaw, Prague and Budapest. Since the release of 'Pussy Money Weed' his presence has grown on a global scale with Paper Magazine labelling him a "legitimate creator", Clash Magazine describing his music as "empowering" and Highsnobiety going as far as to call him "inimitable"; Dazed Magazine also shortlisted Tommy into their iconic 'Dazed 100' list for 2018, a compilation of the most exciting and forward thinking young talent making waves at the moment.
